

The exhibition on Art Deco at the Gemeentemuseum in The Hague is a feast of elegance, muted colours, beautiful fabrics and all things to do with this period in Art History. Eleven of us wandered around the fairly small exhibition, full of wonder and admiration. We didn't need a guide, the dresses and jewellery spoke for themselves; afterwards we enjoyed a cup of coffee in the sunny atrium, (probably wishing we were slim enough to wear these creations!)

